Pre-Aging

Pre-aging covers all treatments that are designed to delay premature skin ageing. These treatments provide intensive hydration, supply the skin with valuable, cell-protecting active ingredients and thus prevent the formation of wrinkles and loss of elasticity. They are ideal for supporting the skin and can be integrated into any spa treatment.

Possible signs

- Skin appears pale
- Skin may be sensitive
- Small (dryness) wrinkles
- Tendency to premature ageing

Barrier-damaged, stressed skin

In the case of an epidermal barrier disorder, the skin's hydrolipid mantle is imbalanced. The skin's own lipids are missing and the skin's moisture loss is increased. Barrier-strengthening and balancing treatments can help the skin to rebuild its barrier function.

Possible signs

- Tendency to blemishes
- Tendency to redness, inflammation and eczema
- Strong feeling of tension and cracked skin itching
- Dehydrated skin due to increased moisture loss
- Dull complexion
- Increased tendency to pigmentation disorders
- Rather flabby and wrinkled

Hyperpigmented and sun-damaged skin

Hyperpigmentation is caused by excessive melanin production. It is triggered by UV rays, oxidative stress, hormonal fluctuations and a disturbed skin barrier. Professional treatments and continuous home care can reduce existing pigmentation and delay or prevent the formation of new pigmentation.

Possible signs

- Over-pigmented areas of skin, especially in sun-exposed areas
- Flat, light brown to black patches in various shapes and sizes
- Age spots

Note:

For unclear skin changes and pigmentation, we recommend a visit to a dermatologist in advance.

Anti Aging Wrinkles and loss of contours

Wrinkles and loss of contour are caused by the breakdown of collagen fibres and the extracellular matrix. The skin is less able to retain moisture and loses elasticity and resilience. Contours sag and wrinkles become more pronounced.

Possible signs

- Visible expression lines around the eyes (crow's feet), nasolabial folds, forehead wrinkles
- Loss of elasticity
- sagging of the contours

Eyes

The delicate eye area in particular needs special attention. Stress, too little sleep and prolonged use of the PC/mobile phone make them appear tired and favour the formation of sagging eyelids and wrinkles.

Neck and décolleté

True age is most easily recognised in the skin of the neck and décolleté. From the age of 40 at the latest, wrinkles and decreasing elasticity become visible 'overnight' due to the special anatomy. Specialised care and treatments can help to firm the neck and décolleté.

Neck & Bust Up - Radio frequency

CNC Calm Down pressure point massage

The CNC Calm Down pressure point massage is the ideal complement to the CNC treatments and not only offers relaxation for the skin, but also for the client. It supports cell growth and strengthens the facial muscles. With regular treatment, wrinkles can even be smoothed out. The face takes on a relaxed and rejuvenated appearance.

The CNC Calm Down pressure point massage can be integrated into the Active ingredient phase, e.g. when manually working in ampoules and serums, or into the Mask phase, e.g. using a fleece mask, to turn the treatment into a relaxing experience. Note: Activate the lymphatic points above the collarbone during skin cleansing. Each point is stimulated 3 times with light pressure. 3-5 passes.

- 1 Sternum, below the clavicle depression
- 2 Depression in the centre of the chin
- 3 Below the cheek bone, centre of eye
- 4 Next to the nostril
- 5 Lower jaw, at the root end of the canines
- 6 Angle of the lower jaw
- 7 In front of the ear, in the centre
- 8 Temple point
- 9 Inner end of the eyebrows above the inner corner of the eye
- 10 Above the inner end of the eyebrows, upwards to the hairline
- 11 Above the inner end of the eyebrows, upwards to the hairline
